because it was known that they were supporting the Roosevelt ticket. Every inspector kept was an anti-Roosevelt man. Now I ask you gentlemen to think what such conduct means.

Matter of Deceit.

If in any political contest here in Illinois one party announced that it would not permit any inspectors except its own to superintend the polling, you would accept it as a matter of course, as an announcement that there was not to be a fair election. There is no other possible interpretation to be put upon such action. It is a matter of elemental decency that if a contest is to be fair, the inspectors shall as a matter of course represent both sides.

In short, the election machinery was used as unscrupulously as in the days of Tweed; names of Roosevelt delegates were left off the ballots, ballots were misprinted, were folded in such a way as to leave voters, and in numerous instances were not delivered to polling places until four or five hours after the polls had opened, and in some instances not before twenty minutes or a quarter of an hour before closing. The election inspectors were removed whenever it was thought they were not with the "machine."

"As I have said, such a primary contest is not merely a farce, but a criminal farce. What was done in New York is substantially what was done in Indiana and Colorado."

A Correction.

In the comparative statement of banking operations between Richmond and Atlanta, published in Tuesday's Times-Dispatch, the item concerning Atlanta's banking capital and surplus should have read $1,000,000 instead of $1,000,000. The error was due to a typographical error.

Police Wanted Post-House Patient Who Is Discharged Ahead of Time.

When Detectives Wiley and Krenzel called at the post-house yesterday for William Sherman, colored, who had been arrested on the charge of being suspected of having committed numerous small burglaries, it was found that he had been discharged the day before.

The detectives say that the post-house authorities, where Sherman was a patient suffering from smallpox, told them several days ago that he would be discharged yesterday, but there appears to have been some misunderstanding, for he was released as early as Tuesday.
